

DEBA UK LTD deba

THE SITUATION

Deba UK Ltd is a specialist cooling tower engineering, water treatment and air quality contractor. Deba's directors had always taken Health & Safety very seriously. When, in 2007, they realised that their existing Health & Safety management system was no longer meeting their requirements, Deba approached EnviroSafety Solutions for help.

OUR SOLUTION

Our consultant conducted a full audit and assessment of Deba's existing system. We advised their management on improvements that needed to be made to meet government legislation – along with some bespoke alterations that would make maintaining their records easier and quicker for them. The new system was designed to be fast, effective and easy-to-use, with simple forms that would enable Deba to maintain all records and risk assessments. EnviroSafety Solutions also provided Deba with training on how to use their new system – to ensure they were completely comfortable with every aspect.

What EnviroSafety Solutions delivered

- A full audit and assessment of Deba's existing Health & Safety documentation
- A brand-new set of Health and Safety documentation
- A simple, intuitive electronic system that allowed Deba to keep their records and risk assessments up-to-date

THE RESULT

Deba's new Health & Safety Management system performance enabled them to pass the Safe Contractor Review and the Achilles UDVB Verify audit. Deba's directors were so impressed with our approach and solution to their problem that we have been retained as their permanent Health & Safety Advisor: monitoring the operation of the system, advising on unusual risks, providing training and ensuring their new system continues to meet their needs.

EnviroSafety Solutions were also recently asked to implement an environmental management system at Deba, to help them achieve ISO 14001 accreditation.

"As a small/medium sized water hygiene and cooling tower engineering company, a thorough Health & Safety policy is very important to our business. EnviroSafety Solutions has assisted us in preparing for our SafeContractor accreditation and membership of Achilles Utilities Vendor Database, both of which recommend us as an organisation whose health and safety competency is proven, improving our business profile for potential clients."

NO TWO COMPANIES ARE THE SAME SO NO TWO SOLUTIONS ARE, EITHER

When you work with EnviroSafety Solutions, you can be certain that we will listen to your company's situation, needs and goals very carefully. Some of the questions we ask may seem surprising to you – but that's how we can be completely confident that the solution we develop for you meets your requirements perfectly.

Whether you are looking to create or update a policy, provide Health & Safety training for your staff, consult with an expert on a construction project or seek advice on CDM co-ordination, you can count on our expert team to develop a solution that is realistic, workable, and profitable – from initial outlay through to sustained return on investment.

EnviroSafety Solutions will help you to:

Build your reputation

Having robust Health & Safety and Environmental policies will impress your clients and give you the competitive edge – making you a company that more people want work for and do business with. Companies that place a strong emphasis on these aspects also attract and retain the right kind of people – keeping attrition rates down, and saving you time and money on recruitment.

Save time and money

Incredibly, many businesses still use separate consultancies for their Health & Safety and for their Environmental documentation and advice. Not only does this mean twice the time, people and cost, it can also result in conflicting practices. EnviroSafety Solutions, on the other hand, offers a one-stop shop: developing and implementing a complete set of policies and practices that mesh together perfectly.

Grow your capability

Every year, the Health, Safety and Environmental requirements involved in project tenders become more demanding and more complex. For companies without a robust set of policies and documents, business has become very tough, as they are not eligible to tender for work with discerning clients. EnviroSafety Solutions can provide you with all the guidance and documentation you need to put you in the running for those really big, profitable contracts – helping you grow your capability, your business and your bottom line.
